

I pay for the satellite service to avoid the endless commercials and get the information I need quickly during my short commute to the office. In the past, I have even arrived at work only to have listened to mostly commercials during the drive time. I will not live without my satellite account!